

Creating an email with links to training video

LUCY allows you to create an email that will lead to several individual training videos. To do that, it is necessary to create a Campaign and put the training videos inside the email template. Therefore an end-user will receive the email with few links to individual training landing pages. Please, note that the ability to track videos would be available if you configure the Campaign according to the second method.

How to configure the Campaign

Method 1: Using the training video links within the Message Template

- Create a Customized Attack Template.
- Within the Awareness Settings add New Awareness scenarios:

Home / Campaigns / Creating email with links to training video. / Awareness Settings

How to track users watching a training videos

Method 2: Creating one landing page with training videos:

LUCY allows you to verify if a training video was played in LUCY's "flowplayer" which are used for all our video templates. To add the tracking feature wit is recommended using one landing page with several training videos. Our custom tracking JavaScript allows you to track a video start and finish the event and also display the progress in statistics by inserting the script into the bottom of the landing page, under the "flowplayer" container.

- Within the Message Template insert a link with %link% variable:

- Reconfigure your custom landing page with the "flowplayer" div container:
