

Background Info

The user reputation level is a score that gives every user a specific profile based on the number of successful phishing simulations performed against this user. If a user gets a phishing simulations and doesn't fall for it, the level will be 100 (means that the user spotted 100 % of the phishing simulations). So if a user gets 10 phishing simulations, and submits only in 1 simulation a password, the rating is 90%.

Configuration

The profiles can be configured under the according menu in the settings:

You can create different profiles. Each profile can have its own settings which are used to determine, what the reputation type is:

The reputation profile also allows you to use a picture (100 x 100 px).
